

See Me Beautiful 2010

Positive Behavior Support for Children with Down Syndrome: Solutions for Home and School.

Featuring Ashleigh Yule from Calgary, Alberta.

This workshop will offer practical and effective evidence-based behaviour solutions to support children with Down syndrome at home and school. Participants will develop a functional approach to understanding behaviour, review basic behavioural principles and research, and work through effective strategies to deal with behaviour both at home and in the classroom. Proactive strategies for promoting prosocial behaviour will also be emphasized. Hands-on strategies and case examples will cover a wide age range, including preschool, early elementary, middle school, secondary, and beyond. This will be an interactive, fun workshop with treats included!

GOAL: For educators and parents to access and discuss information about learning strengths and best teaching practices for children with Down syndrome, so that together they can provide an effective, rewarding educational experience.

About our Presenter

Ashleigh Yule, MA, is a Registered Provisional Psychologist in Calgary, Alberta.

Ashleigh works as a school psychologist at Renfrew Educational Services, a multi-disciplinary school for children with exceptional needs. She also runs an independent practice specializing in assessment, intervention, and consultation for children with developmental delays and their families. Ashleigh's areas of expertise are behaviour support and adaptive profiles for children with developmental delays. She has over ten years of experience providing direct intervention, behaviour support, and parent consultation to families of children with autism spectrum disorders and other developmental delays. She completed her Master's training in School & Applied Child Psychology at McGill University in 2008 and will begin her doctoral training in School Psychology at the University of Calgary in 2011. Born and raised in Winnipeg, Ashleigh and her husband have two young sons who love to teach Mommy all about behaviour solutions!
